TERMS OF THE DAILY DEMOCRAT TO THE COUNTRY. ONE YEAR.

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

We desire to procure the services of a local agent in every Postoffice District in the State. Will our friends ocure the services of some efficient person in ily indorse and commend them to our readers, Democrat may be materially extended, we make this appeal to our friends in its behalf.

A very brief synopsis of a part of Governor Seymour's message appeared in our yesterday's paper, which has, doubtless, been read by our subscribers. The great truth is there laid down for which we have contendedthat the cause of the present war was not as its authors have contended, the slavery question ; but has risen from the passions of those in the extreme sections, led on by malicious demagogues, whose only object was their own aggran ent; and nothing is truer than the statement that "we are to look for the causes of this war in the prevailing disregard of the obligat tions of laws and constitutions, disrespect for astituted authorities, and, above all, local prejudices, which have grown up in two portions of the Atlantic States."

The blame is here laid upon the right shoulders. We have had for years a systematic effort North and South to disregard constitutional obligations, producing hostility and the raids and frauds in Kansas, and, finally, culminating in the present great rebellion. In one section we have had Lynch law and studied preparation for Disunion; in the other the regularly adopted efforts by State legislation to destroy the obligation to obey the fugitive slave law by personal liberty bills. The Governor rightly charges the origin of this upon error, it is by the influence of the passions introduced by the named States.

The following sentences are the most significant, perhaps, in the message: When the leaders of the insurrection at the treme South say free and slave States can-t exist together in the Union, and when this re-echoed from the extreme North by the enemies of our Constitution, both portions simply say they cannot because they will not respect the laws and the Constitution. This respect the laws and the Constitution. This spirit of disloyalty must be put down. It is inconsistent with all order, social security—with safety of persons and property.

This is emphatic. It is not only this unnat ural rebellion which must be put down, but the consistent and persevering efforts of Abclitionists must be crushed. These men are alike guilty, and should be punished accord-

Governors of States met to shape the policy of the General Government. The National Legislature appoints committees to interfere of Constitutional advisors. The natural results of meddling and intrigue have followed—while our armies have gained victories in fields remote from the capita', in its influence the heroic labor of our soldiers and the skill of our generals are thwarted and paralyzed. Not only must the National Constitution be held inviolate, but the rights of the States

the Government in their separate functions, that has so long prolonged the war, and has wrought such intense disgust with the people and created the present unfortunate division

The President has already signed an act of clare the emancipation of the slaves of those who are not in rebellion, and who are, therefore, loyal citizens. It is an extraordinary deduction from the alleged war power, that for feiting the right of loyal citizeas, and bringing upon them the same punishment imposed upon insurgents, and is not calculated to advance the success of the war to uphoid the Constitution and rectore the Union. May not this measure (the proclamation) be clearly impolitic, usjust and unconstitutional, and which is calculated to create so many barriers to the rectoration of the Union, be misconstrued by the world as an abandonment of the hope or the purpose of restoring it, a result to which the State of New York is unalterably opposed, and which will be effectually resisted? We must not only support the Constitution of the United States and maintain the rights of the United States and maintain the rights of the States, but we must reslore the Union as it was before the outbreak of the war.

Mr. Seymour here dwells upon a point which has never been brought so prominently forward. Our readers are aware that the claves of those in actual rebellion are to be freed under the confiscation act. It is to be presumed that wherever the Federal authority on the power this will be done. It desires go nereased force or vitality from the proclama tion. By confiscation they are already freed. It must be presumed, therefore, that this proclamation does not refer to them, but to some the next twenty days. other parties. To whom, we ask, must it refer? Is it not clear that it can be directed only against the leyal men of the South, since the slaves of disloyal men are already freed?

must be correct that it creates so many barriers to the restoration of the Union, and Kentucky will join with New York in an unalterable opposition to the division of the

In a subsequent paragraph he takes up an other popular error:

The mischievous opinion that in this test the North must subjugate and destroy the South to save our Union, has weakened

It is a suggestive fact, affording instruction and hope for the future that the theories which have exercised an influence on our National polities did not originate in what may be called the heart of the Union, among the intimate and well-acquainted population of the Central and Western States. There have been treme Northern views and extreme Southern views of the more populous Central and West-ern States. These States enlisted warmly in war for the Union and the Constitution. icy, and took up the views of the extreme Northern States, it lost at the late elections nearly all the political support which these States afforded in the elections of 1800 and 1861. While the North cannot hold the Southern States in subjection without descroying the principles of our Government, the great Cen-tral and Western States can control the two

Let no one demand that the blood of his neighbor shall be shed; let no one think that the people, who have refused to yield this Union to rebellion at the South, will permit its restoration to be prevented by fanaticism at the North.

The peroration embodies his views of hew the war should be carried on, and we most heartof the with the firm belief that it is only by the adoption of such policy we can hope for a perma nent peace. In conclusion he says:

nent peace. In conclusion he says:

The condition of our country is not hopeless unless it is made so by passions and prejudices which are inconsistent with the government of a great country. We must accept the condition of affairs as they stand at this moment. The fortunes of our country are influenced by the results of battles. Our armies in the field must be supported; all the constitutional demands of our General Government must be promptly responded to. Under no circumstances can the division of the Union be conceded. We will put for the every exertion of power—we will use put forth every exertion of power—we will use every indocement to the people of the South to return to their allegiance consistent with honor. We will guarantee them every right, every consideration demanded by the Constitution and by that fraternal regard which must prevail in a common country. But we can never voluntarily consent to the breaking up of the Union of these States or the destruction nothing is more essential to our present welfare, as well as our future prosperity, than perfect unanimity among our people. While we think the President's course should be condemned by all parties, hostility to him should never lead us to oppose the Union itself, or any constitutional law or order from the the Atlantic States. It is to the prevailing policy of New England and the counter treason of South Carolina that we are indebted for our present disasters. Our press, our people, our State authorities, everything by which opinion can be controlled, should be bent to the single object of causing the withdrawal of the proclamation and the adoption of a sound conservative policy. We should have no divided councils, nor should we allow the ultras to infer for a moment that there is any division of sentiment among us. We know there is none. We have not heard of a single instance of concurrence with the President among all the varied opinions that constitute the public sentiment of Kentucky.

We wish our people to unite among themselves upon this question. We wish our Legislature to present a protest or declaration of principles, firm and decisive in character, which shall have received the approving vote of every member of that body. By unity failure to distinguish the different powers of among ourselves and concentration of purposes we may do much, if not all, that should be done,

> The dispatches announce that there will be some astounding changes at Washing ton within the next twenty days. Let us guess at what they will probably be:

The President, overpowered by mental anxieties, will retire to the shades of a lunatic ditch. Stanton will call all the troops in the field to protect his house.

Chase will paint his back green and try to pass as a legal tender out of the Administra-

Seward will have the alternative to read his eight hundred pages of correspondence and the President's message, or retire. The Attorney General will try to get naturalization papers by painting himself black; because, according to bis opinion, blacks are citizens of the United States. Hamlin will be arrested as a fugitive slave.

The Secretary of the Navy will have learned of the loss of the Monitor. The foreign powers will make it an ultimathority in the South will be re-enslaved by Jeff Davis.

We have casually om itted to notice the sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Jacob, the lady of our esteemed friend Col. Jacob, of the Ninth Kentucky Cavalry. She was the daughter of the late distinguished Senator, Thomas H. Benton, and had been thoroughly educated by her father. She was a fine lin guist and classical scholar, and in every respect a kind-hearted and accomplished lady. In all her way of life she typified the pure and true Christian, whose heart overrun with charity. They are still in the service of the country, and upon distant fields of military operations are periling their lives in defense of that Union which they have always been taught to venerate, and of that Government which, under the glorious Constitution of our fathers, has secured to its citizens a greater amount of happiness and prosecution. It is further provided, that each State accepting the provisions of the act shall, within five years, provide at least one college for the purposes indicated. Without going into further details in regard to this beneficent provision of the general Government for the promotion of the great educational and industrial interests of the country, I will simply refer you to the act itself, and commend the subject to your faithful consideration. You understand too well the vital importance of fostering and promoting these great interests to require commendation of them from me. General Assembly of Kentucky, at the troops, was too inquestionable to be controverted, how mu h soever the necessity for its exercise might be deplored. Kentucky neu trality never meant anything like this, although it was adroitly seized upon by Southern sympathizers and construed to be a declaration of war against the Union. All her efforts proved unavailing—the Southern heart was fired—the fatal blow was struck at Charleston, and Kentucky herself was invaded and seized upon as a "military necessity" by Southern Generals. When example, entreaty and supplication had all failed, Kentucky was compelled to choice between Union or Disunion. She unhesitated between Union or Disunion of the contest, and has responded, from that moment up to this hour, to every legitimate call made upon her by the Government for men or means with her by the Government for men or means with which to prosecute the war to a successful issue. She has furnished fifty one regiments and two batteries for the filld, and the battles of Mill Spring, Fort Donelson and Shilph, on the Sandy, at Wild Ca', at the Cumberland Gap, at Perryville, and last, though not least, at Murirocsboro, ayough for the bravery of her troops and the skill of her officers. From this here but not vain-glorious allusion to the action of Kentucky, one would naturally suppose that so much loyalty and so duly respected. Under the specious plea of "military necessity," farms have been laid waste, provisions have been stad, forage has been ciliected, and, instead of being bought in open market where the supply would have even this might have, and has, been borne as one of the unpleasant concomitants that fol-low the marches or encampments of troops but still it is a matter of wonder to Keptuck ians why a different rule prevails on the op-posite side of the river. Why is it, that all supplies are bought and paid for in Ohio, the overnment coming in as any other pur-haser, while the same things are unceremo-iously seized in Kentucky? Has Kentucky

In consequence of this oppressive and inexcusable, because unnecessary, conduct, many of our farmers have been deprived of the means of subsisting their owa stock during the present winter, and the direct and consequential losses to them have been ruinous in the extreme. I call your attention to these as among the many annoyames our people endure; and perhaps they complain less of them because there looms up hefore them a more gigantic eviloope the hare contemplation of which sickens the heart and fills all with gloomy and dreadful forebodings. I allude to the disturbance of the slave property of Kentucky.

stiren the great principles of American liberty—State and National.

In conclusion, I may be permitted to remark that the distressing calamities of the past year teach us an important lesson. During the long period of our National independence, God has favored us as He has favored no other nation. He blessed the Union of these States; and under the Constitution of our fathers the people were prosperous and happy. Man, in the madness of his ambition, or through the insanity of discontent, undertook to sever the bonds by which we were united, and ruin and desolation have followed. The wrath of man has been let loose, and it has shown us what a fearful penalty awaits those who misuse the goodness of Providence. Yet, our Heavenly Father has claims upon our gratitude for the mercica He has mixed with his thastisement. He has caused the earth to be prodigal in its yield. The seed time and ine harvest have come in their season and the garners have been filled to overflowing with the abundance of the past year. He has tempered the winds, and so directed all the clements of life, that the pestilence that walketh at noon-day has not placed its foot within our borders, and health has been vouch-safed to us in an unusual degree. For these and all His blessings to us, we, the people, should praise Him.

Three young ladies announce, through the Raleigh (rebel) Standard, that they will provide clothes for three soldiers as long as the war continues, if the soldiers whom they select will consent to marry them when the war is over. They wish to secure homes for themselves in future, as their own homes are in the hands of the Yankees. Here is a good chance for soldiers to procure clothing during the war, and wives after it is ended.

Headquarters are advised that, previous o the Murfreesboro fight, a large portion of the Anderson Troop mutinied at Nashville and refused to advance. The remainder, about 300, went into the fight under Rosengarten and Ward, and behaved gallantly. Parties have been sent along the line for the arrest of a large number, reported to have deserted, and their return to Nashville in irons,

The East Tennessee Expedition-Official Report of its Operations. We find in yesterday's Cincinnati Gazette the following interesting details of Colonel Carter's expedition into East Tennessee:

Col. Carter has been heard from. His expedition into East Tennessee proved a complete success. The following dispatch to Gen. Wright, comma_ding the Department of Ohio, from Gen. Granger, gives the result. We learn in addition that the expedition was composed of detachments from the 2d Michigan, 7th Pennsylvania, and 7th Ohio cavalry. It started on the 21st ult., under orders from Major General Wright, and reached its destination on the 29 h ult. The rebels had been apprised, eighteen hours in advance, of the approach of Gen. Carter, but the strength of the force of the latter was greatly exaggerated. Col. Carter has been beard from. His ex have over four hundred men when he attacked the rebel camp of eight hundred; but he whipped the enemy, who lost over five hundred in killed, wounded and prisoners. When Gen. Carter reached Union bridge, he captured Gen. Carter reached Union bridge, he captured a train of cars, in which were three rebel officers—Colonel Love, Gen. Stephenson and an engineer. The locomotive and cars were destroyed. The Watangee and Union bridges, together with nine miles of the road, were destroyed. The nature of the country there is such that it is impassable for either wagons of foot passengers between the breaks. There is very rough road, however, twenty five miles n length, over which troops may be marched, but wagons or artillery cannot pass. Another important fact is the absence of Simber in that country to repair the road and oridge. It must either be hauled from North Carolina or brought by rail from Virginia. It is the opinion of the officers that the road cannot be repaired in less than two months.

A large quantity of salt, intended for Bragg's army, was destroyed, together with other stores tound here. Colonel Carter lost only ten men. The march was a severe one upon men and horses. The latter suffered even more than the forms. The march was a suffered even more than the forms. The march was a suffered even more than the forms of the with Colonel Todd as Lieutenant-Colonel T the former. The Michigan regiment, however, finding better animals among the rebels than those they were riding, made an exchange, and eturned with new horses.

A short time before the arrival of Gen. Carhad been sent off to the army from the mountains. These came very near being rescued. The following is the dispatch to Major General

LEXINGTON, Jan. 7, 1868. LEXINGTON, Jan. 7, 1808.

To Major General Wright:

The cavalry force of 1,000 men I sent to East
Tennessee on the 21st ult., by your order, under command of Brig. Gen. Carter, to destroy the East Tennessee railroad bridges, have been heard from. Gen. Carter has just dispatched me from Manchester, Ky., on his return, stating that on the 30th ult., he entirely destroyed the Union and Wantanga bridges, with ten miles of railroad.

Five hundred and fifty rebels were killed, wounded, and taken prisoners. Seven hun-

The raid has been one of the most nazardous of the war, attended with great hardships and privations, owing to the aimost impracticable nature of the country in which it was made, and the isolemency of the season. General Carter's officers and men deserve the thanks of the country.

LATEST FROM VICESBURG.

Unfavorable Reports from the Battle field-Results of three Days' Fight ing-Gen. Morgan L. Smith Wounded-Desperate and Determined Fighting of our Troops.

[Special Dispatch to the Missouri Democrat. HELENA, Jar. 2, via Cairo, Jan. 6. The Minnehaha arrived here last evening, aving dispatches from the scene of strife and arniage before Vicksburg. The boat left on carniage before Vicksburg. The boat left on Monday evening, and reports that the battle had reged without intermission during Sanday and Monday, with the following results:

General Sherman on Sunday drove the rebels before him, who through the day maneuroned as if they were too week to dispute our vered as if they were too weak to dispute our advance, and especially to assume the offensive. They fought flerce'y, but as if unable to cope with our massed columns, and everywhere gave ground.

On Sunday we drove the rebels one mile and On Sanday we drove the rebels one mile and a half, took possession of their outer works, capturing nine spiked guns. Early on Monday General Sherman attacked their central line of defenses with great impetuosity. The enemy, as usual, gave ground, and three regiments, including the 4th Iowa; succeeded in getting within the works—drove the rebels from their rifle pits, and stormed their main haden. But our troops had hardly gained possession here before the enemy, strongly re-enforced with massed columns, at least ten regiments strong, charged headlong upon them. Our beys manfully maintained their position for some time, anxiously awaiting re-enforcements from Hovey's command, which had been ordered by Gangeal Steels to their had been ordered by General Steele to their had been ordered by General Steele to their aid. But it appears that General Hovey could not get there, and one handful of brave soldiers were literally crushed beneath the massed columns of the rebels, and driven from the ground they had so bravely won, with fearful slaughter. This information I received from the son of the late Coi. Wyman, of the 13th Illinois, who came from the battle-field bearing his father's corpse.

INCIDENTS—DEATH OF COLONEL WYMAN.

Colonel Wyman was shot early in the battle on Sunday afternoon, while leading his men to an attack on the enemy's works. He was shot by a skirmisher, who carried an Euglish rifle that shoots a round ball with great accuracy and tremendous momentum. I examined the ball. It is round, weighing about a half ouncee. The ball passed through Col. W.'s body, near to his heart. The Colonel lived nearly two hours. After he received his death-wound, the 13th Illinois seemed to be thrown into confusion, and the Lieutenant Colonel, Gorgas, seemed for a moment paralyzed. At this juncture, Col. Wyman raised himself erect, and in clarion tones shouted, "For God's sake, Col. Gorgas, go forward!" It acted like magic upon the Lieutenant Colonel, officers and men. Col. Gorgas, with flery energy, rushed to the head of his regiment, gave the word "forward," and with a shout the brave column rushed into the cloud where death and carnage were holding their grand carnival. INCIDENTS-DEATH OF COLONEL WYMAN. ing their grand carnival.

The laying of the pontoon bridge across the bayou in the face of the enemy's fire, and the determined and unconquerable spirit evinced by our men in crossing in the face of so many and so formidable obstacles, give them a place beside the heroes whose chivalrous deeds will the forwer. GALLANT DARING.

Gen. Morgau is reported mortally wounded while engaged in an onset upon a rebel battery. I have not been able to get the particulars. The brave and gallant Gen. Morgan L. Smith who moved unscathed amid the rain of bullets and of flery missiles at Donelson and Shiloh in command of the 8th Missouri, was slightly wounded while in the advance cheering on his fainting columns.

Major Partridge, of the 18th Illinois, lost his right arm

NARROW ESCAPE.

It is said that on Sunday General Sherman had several narrow escapes from death. The General had taken his stand upon a favorable point of observation, and stubbornly maintained it, though it proved to be within range of a rebel battery. Several times a sixty-four pounder plowed the ground fearfully near, covering his person with earth, but doing him no damage,

RESULT UF TO MONDAY EVENING.

It is difficult, from the imperfect information that I have received, to judge certainly of the ultimate result of the attempt of General Sherman, alone, and unaided by Banks or Grant, to storm the rebel stronghold, which they have been fortifying for a year. Our men Sherman, alone, and unaided by Banks or at 2% o'clock r. m. from Walnut Grove. The friends of Grani, to storm the rebel stronghold, which they have been fortifying for a year. Our men Mrs. B. J. Adams', on Walnut street, between Third and they have been fortifying for a year. Our men are hopeful, even sanguine of success, yet it may prove a failure. It appears that General Sherman failed to get possession of the railroad leading to Jackson, and there does not seem to be anything in the way of the enemy throwing in re-enforcements to an indefinite extent. The grand failure of Grant's expedition, and his consequent falling back upon Holly Springs, diminishes, if it does not annihilate all hope of ald from that quarter. Nothing reliable has been heard free Banks. As yet there has been but little cooperation on the part of our gunbout fleet, owing, in part, to the blunder which threw the barges of coal sen: down by the B'ue Wing for the use of the fleet into the hands of the rebels. It is reported at headquarters that General Grant has succeeded in getting a large force of the second of the set of the second o It is reported at headquarters that General Grant has succeeded in getting a large force of cavalry through the country to the aid of Gen. Sherman. I am disposed to think this news too good to be true. Moreover, it is not probable, On the whole, I am forced to the nuwilling conclusion that inagmuch as Sherman failed to get within the enemy. willing conclusion that heasmuch as Sherman failed to get within the enemy's works on Sunday, and had not gally much even as late as Monday evening, the publishes are against his final success.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was still slowly falling last evening with five feet nine inches water in the canal, and three feet nine inches in the pass. Yesterday morning the ground was covered to the depth of three or four inches with snow, which at sundown was well gone, and the weather quite soft.

The arrivals and departures were as follows Major Anderson and Superior, Cincinnati; Progress and Fred Lorenz, from Cincinnati; Aurora and Horizon, to Nashville; Imperial, Cincinnati to Memphis; Mariner, from Cincinnati; J. T. McCombs, to Henderson.

the way to Nashville. The Leonora got through the canal yesterday, but the Horizon and Aurora were still there last evening. SALE-The steamer Science was sold yesterday to Capt. Pink Varble and Capt. May, formerly of the W. W. Crawford, for $8,000. Capt. Bruce, formerly of the Laky Pike, will go in command. She is at present in the Government service, and will leave to-day for Nashville.

For CINCINNATI. The General Buell is the mail-boat at noon to-day. HENDERSON.-The Big Gray Eagle is the regular Friday packet, leaving at 5 P. M.

A special dispatch from Clarksville lyesterday ounces that the fleet of steamers from Evansville, loaded with supplies, passed Clarksville yes-terday on the way to Nashville, where they no oubt have safely arrived by this time. The Cumberland river is still rising.

We find the following in yesterday's Cincinnati Gazette.

Business on the wharf yesterday was dull, there being but few boats at the landing, and most of those being in the Government employ.

The arrivals were few and the receipts were very light. The Fred Lorenz came down from Pittsburg with a light trip. The Ohio No. 3 came in from Marrietta, bringing 429 bbis salt and other feeight. The Market Boy brought 250 bbis salt from the Kanawha. The Golden Era came down flying light from Parkersburg, and the Nashville also came down light from Pittsburg but brought down 200 soldiers from Gallipolis. The Mariner also came down from Pittsburg with 130 tons iron.

The departures were the Fred Lorens to Louisvile, with 800 boxes pilot bread; the Prairie Rose to St. Louis, with 450 sacks grain and 26 ambulance wagons for Government, besides outside freight; and the Imperial to Nashville.

The imperial was chartered by the Sanitary Commission yesterday, and was sent to Nashville with a full load of hospital stores, &c., and will, in all probability, return with wounded soldiers on board. The Golden Era and Nashville were both taken into the Government service, with instructions to report at Louisville, for which place they will leave to-day.

The following memoranda of the steamer Mary E. Forsyth contains several items of interest:

Memphis on Monday morning, January 5th, at 7
O'clock, with 338 bales cotton, and 200 cabin and 50 deck passengers. Boats in port: Alhambra, under arrest; Platte Valley, for St. Louis; Commercial, for Louisville; New Bon Accord and Language caster No. 4, for Helena; Sam Gaty, waiting to unload Government freight, and Glendale, fer Cincipnati. Great excitement in Memphis in consequence of the recent fight at Vicksburg. No arrival from below sizes the Minnehaha, on Friday. Shorought-up Gen. Wyman's remains. Hewas killed in the fight. Col. Smith's remains arrived the night before we left. We brought Gen. Waman's remains to Cairo, in charge of his son We were surprised at Memphis on Saturday night by hearing the sound of a locomotive whistle. The first train for seven months arrived from Holly Springs, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad. Passenger trains will be running in a day or two. Business in Memphis is not so brisk as it has been. Cotton is still coming in slowly. River rising all the way up to Cairo.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican E. Forsyth contains several items of interest:

MURFREESBORO, Jan. 6.

Murfreesboro was mostly deserted by rebel citizens, but they are coming back, begging favor while refusing to take non-combatant's oath.

It is a fact, not heretefore published, that on the night of Wednesday's battle, prominent Generals supposed General Resecrats would retreat. He never entertaized such an idea.

After the rebels were goze, he was complimented for his tenacity. "Yes," said he, "I suppose you know Bragg is a good dog, but Hold-fast is better." The lads call him "Old retreat. He never entertained such an idea.

I here saw the bags, boxes and bales of Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, and other material-and the original St. Croix Rum puncheons bearing the Customhouse brand. It seemed that medicine could here be turned out to supply a world of invalids-yet these gentlemen are urable to fill their orders for Plantation Bitters alone. I was shown many certificates of extraordinary cures effected by these Bitters. The statistics of the medicine business as presented to the last Congress in the report of Mr. D. S. Barnes, are enormous and starillug, amounting to some six million dollars annually. The proprietors of these Bitters will pay Uncle Sam near fifty thousand dollars for stamps this year! With such individual resources, Government loans ought to stand at par, and Jefferson Davis might as well pack up and start for Jerusalem. * * * *

The House resumed the consideration o Hutchison's resolution tendering the thanks of the House to Gen. Butler for his able, ener-getic and humane administration in the De-partment of the Gulf; passed—83 against 28.

[A Special.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. To-day's Richmond papers contain official dispatences from Bragg, in which he acknowledges that he found our forces too strong for him, and was compelled to fall back to Tullahoma. Dispatches to Richmond papers say he lost very heavily.

The bill for letters of marque and reprisal against rebels, which was referred to day will

The bill for letters of marque and reprisal against rebels, which was referred to-day, will probably pass, after being amended so as to include foreign enemies as well as domestic.

The Richmond papers, received by General Dix, at Fortress Monroe, this day, admit the defeat sustained by Bragg, at Murfreesboro, and lament that the Yankees would now obtain possession of East Tennessee, from which an army of two hundred thousand men could not drive us.

Partial reports from Admiral Porter, of the early operations above Vicksburg, have been received at the Navy Department. It makes a detailed mention of the wounding of Com. Gwyn. He refused to go into the pilot house, saying that the quarter-deck was the Captain's place.

The impression of the best-informed military The impression of the dest-informed military circles to night is, that Gen. Butler will be soon sent back to the Mississippi river with an enlarged command and extended authority.

The National Republican states that Count The National Republican states that Count. Mejan, who was accused by Gen. Butler of having acted as banker to Jeff Davis, has been dismissed by M. Mercier, the French Minister, after an examination of the record of Mejan's accounts, without any other action on the part of our Government except presentation of the case.

M. Fancounet has been recognized by our Government as Consul at New Orleans. A Times special says it is positively asserted that an important change will be made in the War Department by the 20th inst. Some believe that Stanton himself contemplates retirement; others, that Assistant Secretary Watson is going; while still others insist that both chief and subordinate will vacate together. In case of a change in the head of the department, public sentiment among unconditional loyal men demands the appointment of General

Butler to the position.

The Committee on Ways and Means held a laborious session to day of nearly six hours, and adjourned at 3 o'clock P. M. to meet again at 10 o'clock to-morrow. The recommenda-tions of the sub committee were generally ap-It is likely that the amount of legal tender
